

Thread on canvass, 2020

Her name is Mary.

I call her Mama Mary. She interceded for me in 2020 through the movement of Bonds of Marian Love/Lazos de Amor Mariano by weaving the threads of my life back in the canvass of truth and coherence.

The Marian movement is about the consecration to Jesus through Mary and is Mary alone the one that can truly mark the changes needed out of sin. I embroidered her as a symbolic prayer in gratitude for the tenderness that her motherly love continues to reconnect me after I was introduced to the consecration.

The rosary and the teachings shared in the consecration became weapons for spiritual warfare in my life. From an eclectic spirituality that blended relativism, new age, and unmet psychological wounds, I received from Mama Mary the renewed identity of daughter of God and the freedom to claim her as my mother, intercessor and guide. Every bead of the rosary, every humble “Mama pray for us sinners” connects me to brothers and sisters who acknowledge sin as our disconnection from ourselves, from each other, from God. That’s why with them and for future warriors to come I can say tirelessly: Who is like God? No one is like God! And after God? Mary! / Quien como Dios? Nadie como Dios! Y Despues de Dios? nadie como Maria!
